Alberta Mine Managers' Association Just Formed

A meeting of the mine managers of The Pass which was held in the Imperial hotel, Frank, last week resulted in the organization of the Alberta Mine Managers' Association.

The association began its existence with the following duly elected officers:

President—W. P. Williams, manager of the Lillie mine of the West Canadian Collieries.

Vice-president—W. A. Davidson, manager of the Coleman mine of the International Coal & Coke Company.

Secretary-treasurer—S. Shone, manager of the Frank mine of the Canadian Coal Consolidated Company.

The Alberta Mine Managers' Association is the culmination of several months' work on the part of several of the mine managers in this part of the district and is very much like similar organizations in Canada and the United States at well as in Wales, England, Scotland, and other countries. The association proposes having a membership drawn from all coal mining districts in Alberta and in B. C. in the Crow's Nest Pass as far west as Fernie. It has for its objects the discussion of all matters of interest to mine managers, especially mining laws, mine management, safety devices, labor situations and will endeavor to promote the general welfare of all concerned, the miners, the owners and the community.

A meeting will be held in the Imperial hotel, Frank, on Saturday, Feb. 25, at 7.30 p.m., when rules and regulations for the guidance of the association will be discussed and other business which will tend to further perfect the organization will be attended to as well as such other business as may properly come before it.

Took Poison

Lillias Knowles, the seventeen-year old daughter of George Knowles, the blacksmith here, took 42 anti-septic tablets on Saturday night and is now in a very critical condition.

Double Murder

Louise Maquisse and Jack Erskine were murdered at Taber on Monday night last. The discovery was made on Tuesday morning by a Chinese cook who found the man dead in a house in the restricted area, while the dead body of the woman was found riddled with bullets outside of the house. Who committed this double murder is not yet known but suspicion is turned towards a Jap, H. Ushima, and strenuous efforts are being made to lay hands on him.

A New Church

The Presbyterians of Blairmore are arranging for the erection of a large church on the hill north of the Alberta hotel. Plans and specifications are being prepared and the architects may have these completed in the course of a week or so. The local pastor, Rev. A. J. Langlois, proposes to have erected a building which will be a credit to the town and one which will have no equal anywhere in the Pass. We hope soon to be able to see complete plans and specifications when we shall have further remarks to make.

Believe only the half you hear—then proceed to forget two-thirds of that.

THE GOVERNMENT WILL BUILD A GOOD ROAD THROUGH THE PASS

A Delegation of Business Men from Blairmore, Coleman and Frank

Interview Premier Sifton and Ask for a Better Wagon Road

Through This Part of District—The Premier Understands

Our Needs and Promises $18,000 for That Purpose

For some time past the people from this part of the district have been advocating for a good wagon road, or one that at least would lessen the danger to human lives and would make it possible for persons to move from one town to the other without fearing some disastrous result. The Prairie and Pass Promotion League, the Boards of Trade, the town councils, the press and the general public, all helped in loudly and constantly pleading for a much improved highway through The Pass to extend from the British Columbia road at Crows Nest east to Macleod.

Our desires are now about to be realized as the result of a conference held at Macleod, on Tuesday afternoon last, between several people from The Pass and Hon. A. L. Sifton, Premier of Alberta.

Those who journeyed to Macleod and interviewed the Premier were, W. A. Beebe, T. Frayer, J. A. MacDonald and M. Rosse, from Blairmore; Mayor Cameron, and W. L. Quimette, from Coleman, and H. Murphy, from Frank. After they had fully explained the object of their mission, the Premier very promptly promised aid and assured the delegates that a grant of $15,000 or $18,000 would be allowed by the government for that purpose and that a good automobile road would be made through the Pass and that an engineer would be sent over the road shortly and the work of improving the old road would commence as soon as the weather conditions allowed. The road will be along over the old one with the exception of the one through the Frank slide. The road here may be on the north side of the railway which will mean a wider, more level and straighter road with two dangerous railway crossings left out.

ARE UNANIMOUS FOR INCORPORATION

A meeting of the ratepayers of Blairmore was held in the Mercantile hall on Monday evening last. The object of the meeting was to discuss incorporation. R. C. Green was appointed chairman. The meeting was called to order at 9 p.m.

T. Kennedy was the first speaker. He owned one lot in Blairmore and he thought that that lot was taxed too high and said that if all the lots in Blairmore were taxed the same rate that his property was, the revenue which the village would receive from this source would be increased by several thousand dollars. He further stated that incorporation would be a benefit to Blairmore. After holding the floor for twenty-five minutes the speaker took his seat amidst a wild burst of applause that shook the building and made the nails pop out from the floor and hop around like a parcel of frogs, that caused the putty to fall from the windows and come down with a thud that startled the silent sleepers in the basement while the shingles tumbled from the roof like an avalanche of mosquitoes on a summer's day.

H. E. Lyon was the second speaker. He thought that Blairmore had reached the time when she should be incorporated into a town. With the completion of the water works, Blairmore would require $30,000 or $35,000 before she would be able to take it over, and to obtain that amount of money incorporation must first take place. He did not believe that incorporation would mean an increase in taxes. The speaker said that after making enquiries from several incorporated towns in Alberta regarding the benefits and otherwise accruing from incorporation, he believed that it would be greatly to Blairmore's benefit to be made a town. He again referred to the new water system. It was something which Blairmore was greatly in need of and she should be incorporated so as to own her water works.

L. Duff was called upon to speak. He was in favor of incorporation, but as he had already expressed his views on the matter on several other occasions, he preferred to keep his seat and give others in the audience an opportunity to say something.

Louie Theabault asked the privilege to say something, whereupon those present remained silent, but he, thinking that silence meant consent, squeezed and rubbered, rubbered and squeezed his way through the empty seats until he finally reached the platform a little fatigued amidst an ovation which raised the dust in clouds and which brought forth tears of appreciation from his much bewildered sympathizers. From his continual flow of eloquence (?) his impatient listeners learned that he once owned two lots in Blairmore but that he had sold them the other day at a low price because he needed the "dough." He used the term "concourse" as many times as a bull dog would bark if suddenly disturbed in the night by a strange intruder. After readjusting his glasses and scrutinizing the "concours" of people, the speaker was at last convinced that there were no ladies present. He wanted Blairmore to progress because he hoped thereby to get a good position. Louie spoke both soft and loud. At times his words were finer than the points of carbide needles and the audience could only "hear the shadows" of them, while at other times his words were like bolts from the blue, they sunk clear into the bowels of the earth and thundered galloping after thunder could be heard wherever the speaker paused to put his eye-glasses on straight. Relief came at last, the lights danced, the walls shook, the floor rocked and the Frank mountain tumbled, while the large "concours" of people "ski-dooed" after being held spell-bound for twenty-three sorrowful minutes.

After all this eloquence there was no opposition to incorporation, and apparently everybody was strongly in favor of seeing Blairmore erected into a town.

Special Meeting of Blairmore Board of Trade

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the Union bank on Saturday evening last to further discuss incorporation. Amongst those present were R. W. Coulthard, T. B. George, W. A. Beebe, Archie McLeod, Harry Howard, Isaac Loughead, John Smith, T. Frayer, J. A. MacDonald, F. W. Doubt, J. Menard, J. Montalbetti, R. C. Green and H. E. Lyon.

Communications were received from the city of Fernie, the towns of Macleod and Granum bearing upon the subject of incorporation. Although several other enquiries had been made by the secretary there were only three answered. While these communications did not contain very much information, they considered that incorporation was doing considerable good to their towns. Some of the members of the Board thought it advisable to let incorporation drop for a time, while others were in favor of going ahead and making Blairmore a town. The members were reminded of the public meeting advised for on Monday night when incorporation would be further considered.

T. Frayer informed the Board that Premier Sifton would be in Macleod on Monday when an opportunity would be offered to some of the members to interview the Premier regarding better roads along the Pass. The speaker was appointed along with W. A. Beebe and others to make this journey and press upon the leader of the government the necessity of improving the public highway along this part of the province.

NEW FURNITURE.

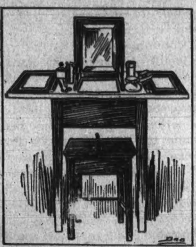

Two Ingenious and Useful Inventions for the Home.

A USEFUL DRESSING TABLE.

The Chaffing Dish Cabinet in the Soul of Hospitality—A Bait to the People Living in Small Apartments and in Boarding Houses.

A folding dressing table and a chaffing dish cabinet are the latest ingenious pieces of furniture made for the dwellers of small houses and apartments, where every inch of room counts and where every clever saving device that is attractive to look upon and yet adds to the comfort of living is welcomed with open arms. The last word in compactness of arrangement and simplicity of design is spoken in these last examples of the artist's genius.

The dressing table is a reproduction from an antique adapted to present day needs with present day mechanism concealed in its polished mahogany, any top, by means of which it is converted automatically from a plain table the table that could stand unquestioned in the parlor or living room—or any place in the flat for that matter—the most convenient and spacious dressing table. The top is divided into two parts. By lifting the leaves on their invisible hinges a center partition comes from below like an elevator, bringing into view a well selected toilet outfit viewed in all directions, each piece fitting perfectly in its own little compartment—comb, brush, hand mirror, powder and wire boxes and manicure implements. In the middle, lying flat on its face, is a good sized mirror fitted with hinges and uprights that is easily lifted in place after the table is open and folded flat when it is to be closed. Nothing could be more ingeniously concealing and serve two purposes so admirably.

The chaffing dish cabinet, so unobtrusive in its outside appearance, is the soul of hospitality. Within its smooth wooden doors are four compartments and two drawers. One, the lowest, is set aside for the chaffing dish resting on a portable tray of white opaque glass bound with wood, in which are handles at either end. The glass is quickly cleaned and need not become too hot to touch. In another compartment is a flat rack for spoons and another, which swings out so as to be in easy reach, for a set of cruets and condiments and a place for pepper, salt and all the things necessary for a chaffing dish supper. There is a place for a cracker jar, too, and in the drawers are napkins, knives and forks. Besides, there is room for plates. If they must be kept there, and any number of packages, from which the supper is cooked, the table is in fact just the right thing for the cook to stand comfortably to stir. It is a boon to the hospitable hearts of people who live in apartment hotels and boarding houses, where nothing tastes as good as something made by one's own hand and where nothing is more fun than to gather around a chaffing dish for a rabbit or an 'a Newburg to the wee wee' hours. Who among the vast army of boarders has not longed for the simple pleasures when restaurants are closed or the trouble of dressing to go out seems the greatest vex in the world?

Scorched Linen.

When linen has been badly scorched try the following method: Roll in a good consistency in half a pint of vinegar two ounces of fuller's earth and the juice of two lemons. Spread this mixture over the damaged part and let it dry. If the threads are not actually burnt through the scorched place will appear after washing as white and perfect as the rest of the linen.

THE RUSSIAN PEASANT.

Stupid and Poor, a Good Fellow Who Merely Survives.

The Russian peasant does not live by merely eating. "Nichevo" ("it is nothing"), he merely says when anything happens to him. Nothing matters, nothing could be worse, and "Nichevo" is his answer for all evils. And yet the Russian peasant is a stout fellow. Ordinarily, R. P. Konrad tells us in his book, "The Russian Peasant," he is a splendid, well built man, large limbed, large headed and healthy. He is equally unaffected by 20 degrees of frost or twenty glasses of vodka. He is clothed in unadorned sheepskin and carries in winter open clothes than the average Englishman could stand up in.

He is suspiciously stupid, however, and his dream of happiness is to go to sleep as much as possible through the winter and dance and sing in the summer. But, the strange if not objection to the moult is that he smells—not because he does not wash himself. As a matter of fact, in every village there are ways that his father and the peasant wash themselves there unfailingly every Saturday in order to be allowed to go to church on Sunday, for the Orthodox church is jealous cleanliness.

The Russian peasant is always poor and generally in debt. He plows the land in the same way that his father plowed it and gets as little for his labor. His main worry in life is how to pay the government's taxes. If he says he cannot pay he is dogged, or perhaps he will sell part of his next year's power of work—i. e., work for nothing for several months to raise a loan, and of course he is worse off than ever the following year.

On Christmas night at dusk the marriageable village girls go out into the streets and meet their young men, and one says, "What is your name?" The young man answers "Poma," and she replies, "My husband's name is Poma. Some days later at the girl's home relations are gathered together. There comes a knock at the door. The starosta and the young man enter, carrying loaves of bread. The starosta says something like this:

"We are German people, come from Turkey. We are hunters, good fellows. There was a time once in our country when we saw strange footprints in the snow, and my friend the prince here saw them, and we thought they might be a fox's or marten's footprints. We hunters, we good fellows, are determined not to rest till we have found the animal. We have been in all countries, from Turkey to Turkey and have sought for this fox, this marten or this prince, and at last we have seen the same strange footprints in the snow, and my friend the court, And we have come in. Come, let us take her, the beautiful princess, for we see her in front of us, or can it be that you, my friend, her sister, grows a little older?"

Thus does the moult ask for a wife.

Inventor Davy and Love.

Sir Humphrey Davy, the inventor of the Davy lamp, found love something of a desire to steal a day's living. Writing to his mother, he said, "I am the poorest of men in the hope of a union with a woman equally distinguished for poverty, modesty and accomplishments." And in a letter to his brother he expresses his rapture thus: "Mrs. Apprice has consented to marry me, and when the event takes place I shall not enjoy kings, princes or potentates."

The widow must have been a person possessed of great powers of fascination, for Sir Humphrey Holland makes mention of her as a lady who made such a sensation in Edinburgh society that even a rector professor did not think it beneath his scholarship to go down on his knees in the street to fasten her shoe. The sequel need not be dwelt upon further, for to tell that the marriage turned out to be altogether a mistake.

Ferguson and the Rabbits.

Robert Ferguson, the poet, was first matriculated at St. Andrew's university in the session of 1764-5. It was the custom at that time for each student to take his turn in invoking "blessing" at the meals. The college table having been surfeited with an unbroken diet of rabbits in various forms of cookery, Ferguson, on being called to say grace, repeated what was now celebrated lines:

For rabbits young and for rabbits old, For rabbits hot and for rabbits cold, For rabbits tender and for rabbits tough Our thanks we render, for we're 'd enough!

It may be added Ferguson was not sent down, but the rabbits were "ruined."

The Quilps.

The quilps, upon which the ancient Peruvians kept their records and accounts, consisted of a thick mat of reeds with smaller cords tied to it at certain distances. Upon these smaller cords the knots were tied by means of which the reckoning was kept. The length of the main rope varied from a foot to several yards. The cords were of various colors, each with its own proper meaning—as red for soldiers, red for gold, white for silver, green for corn, and so on. The reckoning seems to have been largely regulated by the distances of the knots from the main cord and the sequence of the branches.

—New York American.

Same Effect.

"Cyril," said his mother as they sat down to the breakfast table, "did you wash your face this morning?" "Well, no, mamma," said he slowly, evidently casting in his mind for an excuse. "But," he added reassuringly, "I tried a little before I came down stairs"—"Believe me!"

CURED OF LAME BACK WHEN 82.

Mr. Samuel Martin, of Stratford, Ont., passed twenty years of his life in a mine, suffering torture from lame back. He tried nearly all advertised remedies and nothing helped him. He used two more boxes and is now completely cured.

Some months ago, seeing Gen. Pills advertised, Mr. Martin purchased a box. The relief which Mr. Martin experienced after he had taken one box was so great that he knew he had found the right remedy at last. He used two more boxes and is now completely cured.

Saved the Kaiser's Life.

It is not generally known that Gen. Sir Archibald Hunter, whose marriage recently aroused so much interest, was the means of saving the German Emperor from an accident which might have been attended with fatal results. When His Majesty was paying a visit to Lord Rosebery at Dalmeny a few years ago. At that time Gen. Hunter was in command of the Imperial Guard. Lord Rosebery's carriage was waiting, and the Emperor had just taken his seat in it when one of the horses commenced to plunge violently, and in another instant the pair would have bolted. Like a flash, however, Gen. Hunter reached the animal and dealt it a smashing blow on the nose that quickly calmed it. Another pair of horses were soon secured, and Hunter received the hearty thanks of the Kaiser for the smart way he grappled with the situation.

She Was Too Enthusiastic.

"Teaching to me," said an enthusiastic young schoolmistress, "is a holy calling. To sow in the young mind the seeds of future knowledge and watch them as they grow and develop is a pleasure greater than I can tell. I never weary of my work. My thoughts are only of—"

"I am very sorry," interrupted the young man to who she was talking, "that you are so devoted to your profession. Miss Clara, I had hoped that some day I might have asked you—"

"In fact, I called to-night—but hardly dare go on, in the light of what you—"

"You may go on, Mr. Smith," said the young lady softly. "I am a little too enthusiastic at times perhaps."

John Wesley's Wife.

John Wesley married a widow, Mrs. Vissile, who grew tired of his noisy life and complained. He paid no attention, and from complaint she went on to jealousy, then to fury. He rebuked her sternly: "Do not any longer contend for mastery, for power, money or praise. Be content to be a private, insignificant person. Of what importance is your character to mankind? If you were buried just now or had never lived, what loss would it be to the cause of God?" She left him, taking with her a large number of his private papers, and he dismissed the subject by writing in his journal, "I did not foresee her. I did not dismiss her. I shall not call her back."

Bismarck Loved the English.

Bismarck said a Russian only had sense to steal a day's living. A Dutchman a year, but an Englishman, said Bismarck, rarely stole less than a life's keeping. Bismarck said if there was one absolute, undeviating, rock bottom rule in Anglo-Saxon make-up and character it was thievish up and down and spiritualized and hidden by gardens of hypocrisy.

The Russian Flag.

Peter the Great, it is said, borrowed the idea of the Russian flag from the Dutch, among whom he learned shipbuilding. He simply turned the Dutch tricolor, red, white and blue, upside down to make a Russian flag.

BIG GAME IN B.C.

The Provincial Government is increasing the Reserves.

Chief Game Warden Bryan Williams, of British Columbia, who has just returned from a short tour through Lillooet, is authority for the statement that the past season has been an exceptionally good one for game of all varieties, and that instead of showing signs of exhaustion, the big game of British Columbia, are really on the increase. And this despite the fact that all the many distinguished hunters who visited the province during the past season returned to their homes delighted with the fine trophies secured. There were many of such hunters in the field, and all had rare good luck. During Mr. Bryan Williams' own stay of eleven days in Lillooet, he counted no fewer than 160 head of mountain sheep and deer. The former are supposed to have belonged to a band of about 160 frequenting the locality, and which are multiplying rapidly—the Montana brown sheep or common big horn. Mr. Hoxseyman, one of this season's big game hunters from abroad, reported sighting 87 sheep and 2 deer in a single day, while he himself secured the limit of two sheep, two goats and two deer, all splendid trophies, in the short space of eight days.

For the further protection of the game, the Government has just adopted orders-in-council establishing three reserves, or rather enlarging two existing game reserves and formally creating a game reserve the large tract in East Kootenay that for some time past has been operated as such by successive orders-in-council prohibiting annual closed seasons there in. To the Talakom (Lillooet) reserve approximately eight miles in length, the reserve now taking in the entire valley of the north fork of Bridge river and being decided upon for the particular benefit of the beaver, which are at present there in numbers and of exceptional size. The new Fort George reserve lies between the north and the south fork of the Fraser river, and is approximately 10 miles in length, and a breadth of between 30 and 40. This is a great meadow country, containing also some lovely caribou and many mountain goats.

The East Kootenay (Rocky Mountain) reserve is now established as a regulation game preserve of approximately 2,000 square miles area. The game therein has been well protected during the past two seasons by prescribed closed seasons and the wanton range the foothills in lovely bands. They are larger and more fertile than the Vancouver valley, and are now becoming so numerous that by next season it is hoped that protection may be for a short period withdrawn and the hunters obtain a chance to secure some exceptional trophies.

The difficulty in accordance to the several requests that have been made upon for the particular benefit of the Kootenay valley is found in the fear that an influx of hunters would come and ruin the game. The game is ideal for the game, and there are no predatory wolves to work destruction among the deer herds as on Vancouver island. The result, being that the Kootenay valley have greatly increased in numbers during the past few years.

"Your Humble Servant."

Anthony Trollope was at one time appointed a surveyor or inspector of taxes, and Mr. Wordsworth's friend was one of the clerks who worked on him. After a very heated discussion Trollope said to them: "Look, here I am, your humble servant, I am well nothing of the sort."—London Telegraph.

THE WONDERS OF ARSENIC.

Accumulative Poison Used to Beautify the Complexion.

"You no doubt have observed the lily white complexion of some women. These women are sacrificing years of their lives for that beautiful skin by the use of arsenic," said Dr. V. D. Russell, a chemist of Manchester, England.

"It is a well-known fact that thousands of women in all countries of the world use the poison in small quantities to bleach their skin. It is an effective means of whitening and clearing the complexion, but the complex given by its use has no permanency unless the absorption of the drug is continued.

"Arsenic, as science has long told us, is an accumulative poison. When one takes it either by prescription for the upbuilding of an appetite or for the bleaching of the skin, he does not feel any ill-effects for several years. The effect of the drug is bleaching and makes a person feel like eating. It also aids the digestion. The average user of the poison takes it in such small quantities that it does not realize how much of it will accumulate in the system in the course of four or five years.

"Being an accumulative poison, it often takes that length of time to see the effects of its action. Then the user may complain of being unable to control his fingers or toes. Subsequently he loses control of his hands and arms. Arsenical poison is the result.

"Five years ago in Manchester there was an epidemic of paralysis. Several thousands of persons were afflicted. Several had gradually died, and the medical profession of England made a thorough investigation of the case. It was traced to beer. The investigators discovered that the brewers were using a glucose in the brewing of their product which was found to contain a small quantity of arsenic. This drug, imbibed in small quantities in beer, had gradually accumulated in the bodies of thousands of persons, had impoverished their blood and left a great percentage of them helpless."

Miss Fraser, the Tailor's Friend.

Just as Miss Agnes Weston has constituted herself the sailors' friend, so Miss Angeline Fraser, who has just died, devoted herself for fifty-four years to the tailors. She was led to undertake her mission amongst the knights of the cloth and needle by Rev. Dr. Wood, of Edinburgh, whose attention had been drawn to the deplorable conditions of the working tailors by King's famous novel, "Alton Locke," the story of a tailor poet. The London Tailors' Hall, in Mill street, London, is a monument to Miss Fraser's love of love. She founded it in 1880, and attended every day to expedient its work. It is a meeting-house for young tailors. The reference library contains the most complete collection of works on cutting in London, and there are a number of tables at which they can practice cutting. Every tailor who met with misfortune knew he had a friend in Miss Angeline Fraser.

During the voyage of the White Star liner Cedric, which has reached Liverpool, a new game for passengers "ship tennis" was played. The rules of "ship tennis," roughly speaking, are the same as those for lawn tennis, but no racket is used, and in lieu of a ball the players hurl a rope quilt forward and backward across a rope net some five or six feet high. A tournament was held during the voyage on one of the upper decks of the Cedric, where a court had been cleared out, two silver cups being presented to the winners. When play was in progress the sides of the court were thronged with spectators, and the usual deck games were quite neglected in the excitement caused by the latest and liveliest form of shipboard recreation.

AN OPEN LETTER

From a Baptist Clergyman, Telling of Cures Brought by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Gentlemen,—It has been my intention to write to you for some time, but being busy I have neglected to do so until now.

I am a Baptist minister. Was ordained June 14th, 1887, in Cramah Baptist Church, Northumberland Co., Ont. I want to tell you in as few words as possible what I know about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was pastor of the Daleville, Que., Baptist Church in 1891 and again in 1894-5. While pastor in 1891, the Rev. John King, a former pastor, aged 75, was stricken with paralysis so that he could not help himself. He had to, or did, take a tablespoonful of rhubarb, every day to keep his bowels regular. He began taking them and it was not long before he could walk again and his bowels were regular. I heard he never returned and his bowels remained active. He died a few years ago practically from old age.

I went from Daleville, Que., to Groton, Vermont, as pastor of the Baptist Church in that place. I lived a man about two and one-half miles from Groton by the name of Neil Macdonald. I heard he was ill, and being a Canadian, I went to see him. I found him lying in bed. He said he had no pain, but was too weak to sit up. His lips were bloodless, in fact he was as white as chalk. I told him of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and gave him some. He began taking them and in a short time could sit up. He was then in the hands and in the course of a few weeks he was out watching men building a new barn for him, and shortly after that he came to Groton to church. Now, I ought to tell you that the doctor of Groton had given him up. The Bygrave doctor (a doctor in an adjoining village) could not help him, and said so. The best doctor in the hospital of Burlington, Vt., came and saw Mr. Macdonald, but said he could not help him. He did not get any help till Dr. Williams' Pink Pills put him on his feet again.

Later I returned to Daleville, Que., as pastor. A young lady who lived about six miles west of Daleville at a place called Edinboro, sent for me to come to see her, as she had been a member of my congregation in my former pastorate. I went to see her and found a similar case to that of Mr. Macdonald. I told her of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for $2.50. She followed my advice, took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and when some time later I saw her in Lachute, she was as well as ever, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did it all.

I have given you the facts of these cases, and I think only just to other sufferers that these cases should be given the widest publicity. If you wish me to go before a magistrate and take oath to the truthfulness of the things mentioned above, I am prepared to do so. I am at present engaged in evangelistic work, and have therefore not at the present time a permanent address. I can, however, refer you to the pastor of the Canadian Baptist.

Grand Carnival

A grand carnival was given in Blairmore on Thursday evening last by Kalit Bros. managers of the rink. The rink was dotted with fancy dressed folk and their antics on the ice were very amusing to the 150 spectators present. The ice was in excellent condition and the managers had everything in good shape for the benefit of the skaters as well as the spectators. Those who wore costumes were as follows: Mrs. James Burrows, Shamrock; Miss Gladys Roy, Gipsy; Miss E. J. Kidd, sunflower; Miss P. Frayer, Spanish dancer; Miss C. Sunstrom, post card girl; Miss Lucy Howe, Italian; Miss J. MacNeil, red, white and blue; Miss S. Pollakowski, Union Jack; Miss Effie Beard, cow girl; M. Hargreaves and James Hamar, Yankee; J. Burrows, comic; E. Hargreaves, French; J. Kidd, Liberty; S. Pinner, happy Holligan; Ray Beard and Garfield Gamble, clown; M. Osburn, Diana; A. Miller, Indian.

The first prize was awarded to Mrs. James Burrows and Miss C. Sunstrom received the 2nd prize for fancy dress. The first prize for comic was given to Ray Beard and the 2nd prize went to Danny Lewis. After the carnival was over, a large number indulged in skating and enjoyed themselves until late in the night. The rink management deserve praise for the way they attended to the comfort and pleasure of those present.

VICTORIA STREET

Blairmore, Alta.February Rod and Gun

Some of many joys of the Canadian winter form the predominating feature of the February issue of the Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont. A snowshoe tramp is not only enjoyable but likewise health-giving and as a recreation cannot be surpassed. When such a tramp can be taken in the winter woods, which have charms and glories all their own, the fascinations of the outing are unequalled, and he who has failed to indulge in such pastime has missed much that goes to make life worth living. Beyond the winter joys there is as much well worthy of attention. Hunting in the land of the Caribou—Newfoundland—well describes the attraction of that island to the big game hunter, while the advantages of Quebec, of Nova Scotia, of British Columbia and of both old and New Ontario for game and game law are recorded by those who have had experience and recount their experiences for the pleasure and profit of their fellow sportsmen.

If troubled with indigestion, constipation, no appetite or feel bilious, give Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets a trial and you will be pleased with the result. These tablets invigorate the stomach and liver and strengthen the indigestion. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Snow covers a multitude of hydrants, and stables and telegraph poles, and insecure roofs. In 2487 A. D. some old archaeologist will come along with a crew of snow excavators and uncover traces of an extinct semi-civilization on the site of what used to be Fernie before we moved up a few hundred feet to the top of the crust.—Fernie Free Press.

An attack of the grip is often followed by a persistent cough, which to many proves a great annoyance. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been extensively used and with good success for the relief and cure of this cough. Many cases have been cured after all other remedies had failed. MOTHERS TO MAKE DAUGHTERS

Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winchester, Ind.—"Four doctors told me that they could never make me regular, and that I would eventually have dropsy. I would bleed, and suffer from bearing down pains, cramps and chills, and I could not sleep at night. My mother wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking one and one-half bottles of the Compound, I am all right again, and I recommend it to every suffering woman."—Mrs. M. A. Davis, Winchester, Ind.

Hundreds of such letters from girls and mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by its use.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Free advice is free, and always helpful.

DRUNKENNESS IN EARLY DAYS

New Famous Men Have Formed Curious and Graved Jokes.

Nearly all the great men of Greece and Rome were heavy drinkers. Alexander the Great when he signed because there were no more worlds to conquer was recovered from the effects of two weeks' duration. He drank so hard as to have delirium tremens and this drove him to the wall at the early age of 32. It took him two days and two nights to get over a royal banquet.

Julius Caesar liked his wine almost as much as fighting. While drunk he gave Brutus, his character, a tip amounting to $20,000, the greatest gratuity on record.

Philip of Macedon was a drunkard. He always left the banquet table staggering.

Nero was in the habit of drinking at noon and eating and drinking until midnight, and usually had to be carried to bed from wine drinking.

Tiberius was a drunkard. After becoming emperor of Rome he was intoxicated so often that his army nicknamed him Biberius, meaning "drinker."

Sardanapollus, last king of the Assyrians, would not only get drunk but he would get drunk on the floor in various stages of the intoxication.

The disease of the Persians gradually affected Greece. The Romans gradually affected Greece. The Greeks, and carried over from Greece to the Romans, equalled. Gluttony and intemperance reigned, and huge fortunes were spent in single revels.

Of the many fables given by Vitellius not one cost less than $1,000 and his reign was almost a continuous debauch. Commodus was a notorious drunkard, and Septimius Severus was not much better.

When Hellogabalus ascended the throne he had a man whose special task was to record the orgies. Forty courses a day were served at his feasts, each one of which cost not less than $10,000. He gave fortunes to inventors of new drinks.

Apicius spent $300,000 on rare wines and dishes. He went over his books one day and found that he had but $300,000 left. Rather than live on such a pittance he stepped out into the backyard and killed himself.

Many of the famous drunkards drank $50,000 worth of wine at a single meal. At a luncheon given to Cleopatra and Pompey by Lucullus $100,000 worth of wine was consumed by the three.

Speaks That Spoil Sentries—Go. Remember that the British sentry has no more intimate acquaintance with "doleful night" in all the world than any cyclist passing it. It is small wonder that the sentries who were sent to guard the sentry box on Christmas night are unharmed.

Sometimes their "ghost" proves to be an elusive, oily, footsloped "loose cannon" or a "loose cannon" masquerading in a wind-sheet, in the hope of diverting the attention of sentries while some other sentry raids on rifles. Sometimes the "ghost" exists only in the imagination of a sentry.

At midnight a lonely spot where a murder or suicide has just been committed, the sentry is often found with his frightened man sentries out of their wits is only a harmless but playful caution.

But these examples lack the weird, truly ghostly flavor attaching to the experiences of the sentries at Hampton Court Palace. Night after night a ghost, said to be that of one of our monarchs, appeared before the sentries, the lonely sentry in the grounds, and succeeded in scaring the lone guard. But Mr. Ernest, the historian of the palace, has brought forward what is described as "indisputable evidence" as to the existence of Queen Catherine's ghost in the "Haunted Gallery."

Jewels Back on Job

The crown jewels, which for nine months have been stored away in a secret place, have now been returned to the Jewel House of the Tower, and by the order of the Lord Chamberlain, were on view for the first time the other week. The Jewel House has undergone numerous alterations, for the even greater security than before of all the royal treasures. The King has named the famous Cullinan diamonds "The Stars of Africa," a particularly appropriate honor to the Union of South Africa. The largest section of what was once known as the Cullinan Diamond, now one of the twin "Stars of Africa," is fixed to the front of the imperial crown, and the famous Black Prince Ruby has been placed in the centre of the Maltese Cross. The smaller diamond is to be seen fixed in the head of the sceptre. Both the "Stars of Africa" can be detached and used as a pendant to be worn by the Queen.

A New Sect

London has been invaded by a troop of missionaries with untanned hands and with hair reaching to their shoulders. All have been sent out from Exeter, the British headquarters of the sect, which originated in Boston, Mass., the home of so many novel "religions." The main tenets of the sect are embodied in a book published by "Benjamin the Seventh Messenger," and addressed to the "Twelve Tribes of Israel scattered abroad." The members believe that exactly 144,000 people were born to be of the elect, and that everybody else is outside the pale. All the elect have by the law to allow hair and beard grow unchecked, to show that they are spiritual men apart from the unregenerated community.

Beard In Jail

An unjust practice, which was peculiar to the Old Bailey prison in London was that when an accused person was acquitted he was obliged to pay the fees of Newgate or go back for want of money. Many unfortunate prisoners died in Newgate through this custom.

More Deadly Than the Plague

The common cold is held responsible for a multitude of human ills. Colds kill more people than plague. When not avoided they can often be hurried from the system by keeping the filtering and excretory organs active.

Many write as if that nothing helps them so quickly get rid of a cold as Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. This is because these pills act directly on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and promptly arouse their activity. The poisonous matter which collects with every cold is quickly removed from the system before it has time to cause trouble or give rise to other derangements.

If misfortune in the form of a cold should overtake you do not give it a chance to attack the lungs or settle on the kidneys. Get rid of it quickly by using Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills.

Mr. J. H. Gibbard, Mission City, Minn., writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills for the last year, and think they are just the thing for a family medicine. My wife had been sick for nearly two years with torpid liver and kidney complaint. Sometimes she was so bad she had to go to bed for two or three weeks at a time, and she suffered dreadfully."

"Reading of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, she decided to use them, and she has been improving ever since. She is never sick a day now, so we believe the cure promised. I have been greatly benefited myself by this treatment for kidney trouble."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all druggists. Write to Bates and Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on every box.

A man seldom looks as mad as he sounds when he uses unprintable words. A dollar fairly got is worth a thousand that are not.

STARTS THE NEW YEAR A NEW MAN

QUEBEC FARMER TELLS WHAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS DID FOR HIM

They Fixed up his Kidneys, made him feel new, and made him feel young all over.

Franklin Centre, Que. (Special).—The only way to start the New Year right is to get the health right. I, William Gamble, a well known farmer living near here, is telling his neighbors how he got his health right.

"I am a farmer sixty-seven years of age," Mr. Gamble says, "and with a weak back and stoppage of water off and on for ten years. I used several boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and they made a new man of me. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine I have ever taken."

Dodd's Kidney Pills will make a new man of you because they make the kidneys strong and healthy and able to do their work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. Pure blood means new life. It means good circulation and renewed strength and energy all over the body.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all forms of kidney disease, from Backache to Bright's Disease, and they are also doing a great work by giving renewed health and energy to thousands of Canadians who are run down by anything. Start the new year by toning up the kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills. It will pay you.

The Fee of Indigestion—Indigestion is a common ailment and few are free from it. It is a most distressing complaint and often the suffering attending it is most severe. The best remedy is Farmer's Vegetable Pills taken according to the directions. They have a regular action on the stomach and restore healthy action. For many years they have been a standard remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion and are highly esteemed for their qualities.

His Virtue Cannot Be Described—No one can explain the subtle power that the famous Eucalypti Oil possesses. The originator was himself surprised by the wonderful results that his compound attained. "Arrah, yer honor, not poor, but unlucky he is."

"Unlucky! How's that?" "Is like this, yer honor. Every morning I see whether he has a foot of corn or I have a glass of whisky."

"A begob, 'tis he has lost for five morian's run!"

Would Let Him Off "Didn't you promise me never to do it again?" "Yes, sir."

"And I said I'd whip you if you did didn't I?" "Yes, sir; but as I didn't keep my promise I won't hold you to yours."

There's one thing you can lose that everybody's willing to return. "What's that?" "Your temper."

Happenings in and Around Frank

Miss Easton, of Coleman, was visiting Miss Blais on Sunday.

Joseph Oliphant, formerly of Bellevue, has taken up his residence in Lille.

Nat. Marshall, government inspector of boilers, was in town on Wednesday.

Rev. Kenneth Kingston will preach in Knox Methodist church on Sunday evening next.

V. H. Wetmore, proprietor of the Imperial hotel, was in Lethbridge Monday and Tuesday.

Rev. T. D. Jones, of Bellevue and Rev. K. Kingston, exchanged pulpits on Sunday evening last.

W. B. Powell, president of district 15, U. M. W. of A., was in town on Sunday attending the weekly meeting of the Frank local.

Quite a number of Blairmore and Coleman people were in town on Friday evening last to witness the Frank-Coleman hockey game.

Richard McGowan is still confined to bed suffering from injuries received at the hockey match on the 4th inst., between Frank and Blairmore on the Frank rink.

Miss Hannah Paul, the newly appointed deaconess for the Methodist Church in Frank and Bellevue, is expected to arrive in Frank by the end of this month. Miss Paul will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Patmore.

F. Cardus, secretary of the Coleman hockey club, was in town on Friday. His efforts in trying to get the local secretary not to allow more than one representative of the press in on a pass, were unavailing.

We were in error last week when we gave the score of the hockey game played here between Blairmore and the home team, as 3-1. It should have read 5-1 in favor of Frank. We regret the typographical error.

A basket social will be given in the Minors' hall on Monday evening next under the auspices of the ladies of the Methodist church. A good programme, consisting of speeches, instrumental and vocal selections, etc., will be given and a good time is in store for all those who will attend.

A league hockey game, was played in town on Friday evening last between Frank and Coleman. Long before the game started, a number of spectators lined up along the boards. Coleman brought along a number of their best rooters and things were lively all through the game. Coleman's best players were also present, and no stone was left unturned by the visitors to win the game. The home team played too much of an individual game. If they had practiced a little more combination we believe that the result would have been greatly in favor of Frank. The Coleman team won by a score of 4-1.

LILLE NOTES

Mrs. J. R. McDonald left on Friday last to join her husband who has been appointed superintendent at the mines at Bellevue.

On Thursday last Pete Zarinski was up before Justice Pinkney charged with assaulting Mrs. Maloski. He was found guilty and fined $9.50. On the same day Andrew Andrusek was found guilty of striking Tony Macenko with a stone and was fined $11.50. Allen Players Returning to Coleman

Miss Verna Felton and the popular Allen Players will play a three nights engagement at the Coleman Opera House, commencing on Monday next, Feb. 20th.

It is a little over a year since this talented company visited Coleman, and they are now stronger and better than ever before.

For their opening bill they are going to present "Merely Mary Anne," a pretty little comedy drama which was written especially for Nat Goodwin and Maxine Elliott. During their stay here they will also present Herr Hermann Sudermann's great success "Magda," which is a translation from the German "Hesmat."

The company are carrying their own special baggage on this occasion, and are thus in position to offer entirely new scenery for each production. Manager Allen has also secured the services of one of the very best scenic artists, and new scenery is being painted from time to time. This is a new feature for a stock company in the West. Seats are now on sale at the Coleman drug store for Monday night.
